June 1 marks the first day of the 2019 hurricane season. No one ever wishes for a natural disaster to impact their home, but we must be prepared. And the City of Sunny Isles Beach is. Though living on a coastal barrier island provides us year-round recreation, this also makes us particularly vulnerable to weather events. However, through measures implemented by the City Commission and City Staff, Sunny Isles Beach is well-equipped should a hurricane or storm impact our area.

Hurricane Irma in 2017 brought the first major hurricane to affect our area since 2005. Luckily, we had procedures in place that allowed us to optimize recovery time and ensure the most efficient and safe clean-up. Our staff pulled together to re-open the City within days following the storm. Our Police Department responded during and after the storm when conditions allowed them to do so safely. And our Public Works and Parks staff ensured a prompt recovery to the City's infrastructure and aesthetic.

But being prepared financially for a storm is just as important as physical reinforcements. Not only is our staff capable of extraordinary measures, but our budget has carefully allocated emergency funds for such incidents. With more than $25 million in funds for hurricane/emergency and disaster recovery, the City is financially armed to combat any disaster that may breach our boundaries.

We are also poised to aid our fellow Florida neighbors and community, both monetarily and in-kind. Following the aftermath of October 2018's Hurricane Michael, we assisted several communities in the Panhandle with the donation of 21 new generators through our Police Department. The City also led an effort to provide assistance and supplies to one town that suffered severe damage from the hurricane, Altha, Florida. Vice Mayor Larisa Svechin even visited Altha to deliver toys, supplies and other items the students lost during the storm.

It is these initiatives by our staff and Commission that assure our preparedness and bolster my confidence in our immediate recovery should a hurricane hit. But preparedness is a two-way street. You must now take it upon yourself to prepare your home and your families for hurricane season. I urge you to visit our website, sibfl.net/hurricane, and pick up a copy of Miami-Dade County's hurricane preparedness brochure to ensure you are ready this hurricane season.

The Sunny Isles Beach Government Center, situated in a pedestrian-friendly area at the heart of the City, opened in January 2005.

Within the 54,000-sq.-ft. edifice is the Commission Chamber surrounded by a civic plaza, combining landscape, water, and contrasting building materials. The internal operations of the City are conducted in this building, and government meetings are generally held the third Thursday of each month.

Housed inside this vision you will find a satellite branch of the United States Post Office open Monday-Friday, brought through a partnership with the Federal Government, and the MDC Sunny Isles Beach branch library open Monday-Saturday, which offers an assortment of classes and programs in the City's first floor meeting room.

The first floor is completed with a Visitor Center, supported by the Sunny Isles Beach Tourism and Marketing Council. The Visitor Center offers tourists and residents alike a wealth of resources for finding activities and events around South Florida. Sunny Isles Beach branded merchandise along with tickets to SIB Cultural Events are available for purchase as well.

Housed on the second floor of the Government Center is the SIB Police Department, open 24/7. Elevators from the lobby take visitors to the second floor during regular business hours, though after hours, the police department can only be accessed via the second level of the parking garage. Accident and crime reports may be requested at the records department.

The third floor of the Government Center provides residents, visitors and contractors information regarding code compliance, parking, building permits and business licensing.

The fourth floor is home to the City Commission; offices of the City Clerk and Manager; human resources department; and finance department. Constituents may make appointments to meet with their elected officials or request public records from the City Clerk.

City Manager's Quarterly Report

Bridging the Sunny Isles Beach Community Through Capital Improvement Projects

Christopher J. Russo
City Manager

If our excellent staff is the heart of the City, our capital improvement projects are the backbone.

Summer is a time for vitality and energy. This season, our sense of invigoration for capital improvement projects is growing to new heights as we complete some long-term projects and lay the groundwork for even more.

The Central Island Drainage Project is currently in its final stages. Twenty-six wells were cleaned and tested, and we are already seeing improved performance on our streets. Throughout the upcoming months, the work will continue as the outfalls and drainage structures in the entire City are cleaned. And though our drainage system has been improved, it is now all of our responsibility to keep our storm drains clear of debris and waste. You can do your part by not littering and reporting any drain blockages that you notice. As a coastal city, Sunny Isles Beach is more intensely affected by King Tides, and while the City cannot mitigate the occurrence of King Tides, maintaining clear storm drains will expedite water drainage and quickly clear our roadways as soon as the tide recedes.

Also nearly complete is the mangrove mitigation project in the area of the former skate park. Once the planting of additional native mangroves in this area is finished, we will work to design an innovative park concept to accommodate a meditation garden in consultation with the Public Arts Advisory Committee. Improving our parks is a top priority and with children out of school for the summer season, we are undertaking much-needed parks projects. Town Center Park will be receiving a new gazebo this summer which will offer relief from our Florida sun at one of our most popular summer play areas.

As I have previously discussed, the Gateway Park build out is projected to begin shortly. The bids for a contractor were received in March, and we are looking forward to a grand opening in spring of 2020. The multi-faceted facility will feature recreation and education space for seniors, teens, and other special programming. The senior component was largely championed by former Commissioner Roslyn Brezin. We mourn her passing this past February and know that she would have been overjoyed to see this project come to fruition. The enthusiasm she fostered will continue to grow through the donation program her family set up for this Gateway Center project in her honor.

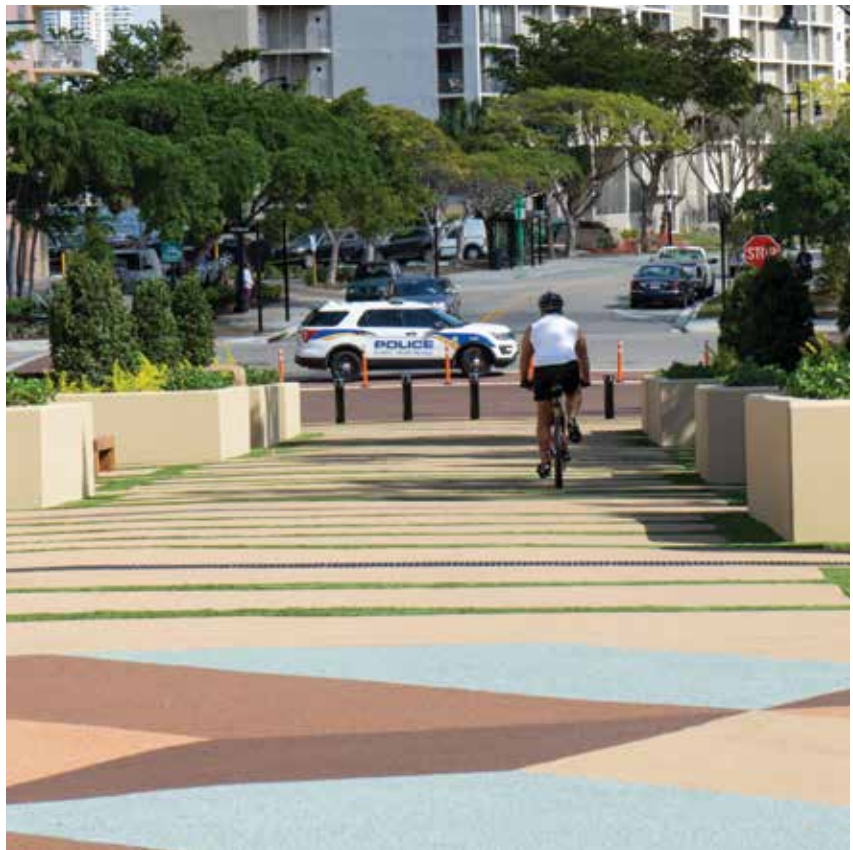

A major effort we are undertaking to enhance the safe passage around our City is the construction of pedestrian bridges that provide a reprieve from traversing across Collins Avenue. Following the great success of the North Bay Road Pedestrian Bridge, we are currently in the design phases for two additional pedestrian bridges to reach new heights over Collins. The Government Center Pedestrian Bridge is well into the design phase as the conceptual design was approved by the Commission this past February. The 174 Street Bridge is now in the conceptual design phase. We are planning an open air and park-like concept that is going to add not only a functional necessity to our City, but also an aesthetically pleasing space for all to enjoy. These highly-anticipated projects have long lead times with approval required from multiple outside agencies. We anticipate construction to commence in 2020 and 2021 respectively.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers completed their beach sand renourishment project last year, which brought approximately 150,000 cubic yards of sand to our beach. And this year, we are scheduled to receive more than 80,000 cubic yards of sand from private developers. This past April, the Army Corps of Engineers assessed the condition of existing submerged breakwaters as we pursue other viable erosion mitigation options.

Sustaining a proactive City can often become difficult for some governments. Fortunately, we have the staff and resources to foresee potential issues in our City. The Golden Shores Pump Station was overhauled 15 years ago and though functioning at maximum capacity, the pump station is currently being evaluated for upgrades as it is our goal to prevent the potential for failures in the future.

If our excellent staff is the heart of the City, our capital improvement projects are the backbone. As Sunny Isles Beach celebrates its 22nd anniversary this June, we can appreciate the hard work and initiatives taken to ensure our continued growth and development. Every day we are innovating, developing, and executing projects designed to improve the lives of our residents and visitors. We will continue to keep you updated on the most recent capital improvement project advancements online at sibfl.net and on our social media pages.

HURRICANE SEASON

South Florida hurricane season begins on June 1 and ends November 30. Sunny Isles Beach is located in the Zone B floodplain where a hurricane may cause a storm surge, high winds, tornadoes, flooding, or loss of utility services. Be prepared.

Pre-register for Emergency Evacuations

Prior to hurricane season, residents who need assistance with daily living, medical needs, or specialized transportation must pre-register with the Emergency Evacuation Assistance Program. For applications call: Miami-Dade 311 (305.468.5900), TTY/TDD 305.468.5402. Individuals needing a pet-friendly Hurricane Evacuation Center (HEC) must also pre-register by calling 311. For each event the County will announce the HEC that accepts pets.

Hurricane Watches

Residents should follow hurricane watches closely. Even if a hurricane warning or an evacuation order is not issued, City parks and beaches may be closed due to high winds. Residents should clear balconies and secure objects in the yard. The Miami-Dade County School Board will decide when to close the Norman S. Edelcup SIB K-8 School. When the public school is closed, the City's After School Program will also be closed. The SIB's shuttle service will stop running when sustained winds reach 30 miles per hour. Information regarding City services will be most current on the web at sibfl.net and through social media.

Hurricane Warning

Hurricane warnings are issued 36 hours in advance of anticipated tropical storm force winds. Residents and visitors must complete storm preparations and immediately evacuate if directed. A family should take a 72 hour supply of food, water, medications, and cash to purchase necessary items if the evacuation becomes extended.

Evacuations

If Miami-Dade County gives the order to evacuate Zone B, all visitors in hotels and residents in condos and single-family homes are required by Florida law to evacuate. There will be no emergency services available once the island is evacuated. Try to evacuate to the home of a friend or family member who lives outside of the evacuation zones. Use a Red Cross Hurricane Evacuation Center (HEC) only as a last resort. Hotel staff will assist their guests with other accommodations.

Red Cross Hurricane Evacuation Centers & Bus Pickup Locations

When an evacuation order is given, open Hurricane Evacuation Centers (HECs) will be listed on local radio, television stations and at Miami-Dade County Call Center at 311 (305.468.5900, TTY/TDD 305.468.5402). Every shelter may not be open for every event. The County provides free transportation to HECs from predetermined pickup locations in Sunny Isles Beach:

Arlen House Condominiums, 158 Street & Collins Avenue
Winston Towers, 100 & 300 Buildings on 174 Street
Golden Shores Area, 189 Street & Collins Avenue
Ocean View Condominiums, 19300 Collins Avenue

QUICK REFERENCE

For the most up-to-date information when a storm approaches, tune in to local network news or listen to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) Weather Radio.

For non-emergency information dial 311 or 305.468.5900 for the Miami-Dade County Call Center; for hearing impaired, TTY/TDD 305.468.5402.

To ensure a seamless transition, we are introducing online registration in stages, the first being summer camp balance. Once your child is registered for summer camp, you can receive login credentials for our online registration website, activities.sibfl.net. There, you will be able to pay the remaining balance.

Within the coming months, After School Program registration will be offered online. And by the fall season, you will be able to register for most of our youth, adult and senior activities online. Registration, of course, will still be available in-person if you wish to do so.

Whether you are a Sunny Isles Beach resident or not, online registration is open to all. Trying a new activity or sport has never been easier. Search through all our offerings and find what days and times suit your schedule. You will soon be able to register for programs at your leisure, eliminating the hassle of doing so in-person.

As we strive to improve our services and work toward eliminating the need for paper, we will also be implementing electronic attendance tracking for some of our recreational programs. This will allow parents convenient access to instantly verify and update who is authorized to pick up their child. These improvements will create a more efficient and convenient way to enhance your recreational experience.

Now is the time to get active with your family. Whether at one of our summer camps or in one of our parks, I encourage you to take advantage of the City's recreational offerings. We have a great lineup of camps and programs for the next three months. Let's make this summer the season of play.

For questions about any of our offerings or services, feel free to contact the Cultural and Community Services Department at 305.792.1706.
